Dear Families and Friends,

As the onset of COVID-19 continues to impact communities around the world, we have made the decision to create a new website and release all of our family curriculum publications to the public free of charge.

These units of work are designed with families in mind and provide around 6-8 weeks of inquiry and play based activities.

We know that providing a learning environment for your children at home is no easy task and hope that our efforts will assist you in creating an exciting learning opportunity for your young learners.

Dr. Rebecca Reynolds, the IPC's academic director, will be available for support via the IPC's dedicated email helpline: family@ipc.education

From all of us at the IPC, we hope that you and your families stay healthy as we overcome this challenge as a global community.

Yours sincerely,

Peter de Beer
Executive Director

Education for the World.
